

News

After a busy time getting in contact with interesting people and an information evening at home, I am going to enjoy it, I am happy to have informed so many people about this cutting edge scientific breakthrough. The support from my husband, being an anaesthesiologist and surging for the facts and data, has been of great asset.

The ASEA event on November 28 has been very successful. We were introduced to the sales manager of ASEA Europe Kristijan Sipus and an Australian couple, Sepp en Jesca Hock, who are building a team in The Netherlands. It is not surprising as Jesca was born here.

At night we had a public meeting where special stories were shared and fair questions were asked and of course answered.

Kristijan's wife made a wonderful picture of me during the Frankfurter convention in September; go check it out on www.omnifit.teamasea.com

If you are still wondering what to buy for Xmas for you girls, this is the ultimate gift for skin repair en rejuvenation!
